HDSW-2041

Thank you for choosing Kopul.

The Kopul HDSW-2041 HDMI switcher lets you select from four HDMI sources, outputting to a single HD monitor or HDTV set. Compliant with HDCP 1.2, this professional, powered switcher supports Full HD and 3D video, and LPCM, Dolby AC-3, DTS 7.1, and DSD audio, as well as audio return. The switcher is easy to use and requires no setup beyond plugging in your devices and the included AC adapter. Its durable, heavy-duty metal housing is perfect for professional installations, but it is also appropriate for home use. A remote control is included for wirelessly choosing your input signal.
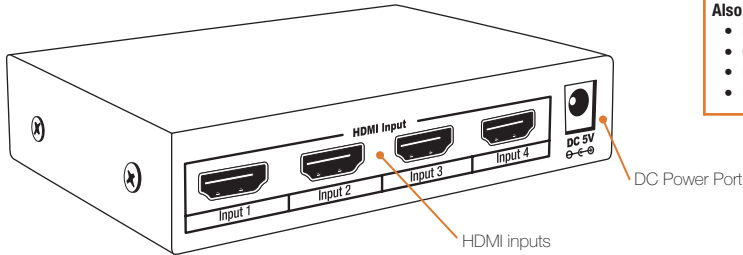

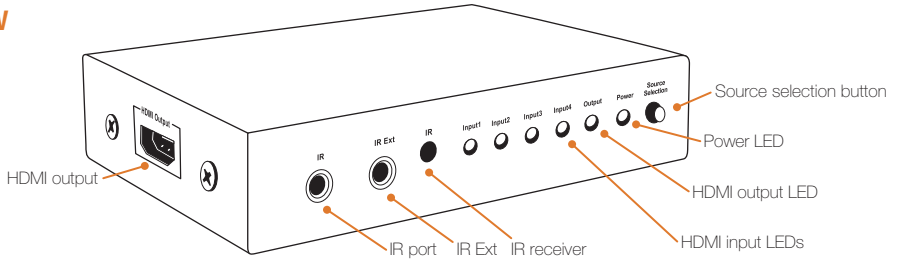

The HDSW-2041 also features an IR remote port, which is compatible with the optional Kopul HDS-IRKIT infrared transmitter and receiver kit. This kit extends normal IR capability, so you can wirelessly control your switcher or HDMI devices even when they are out of view or otherwise beyond the reach of your IR remote control.

Note: This switcher does not support HDMI with Ethernet.
